Southerners Lose Civil Rights Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern House members said today direct White House appeals to Republicans defeated the Southerners' attempt to write jury trial guarantees into the civil rights bill.

The House Friday beat down the Southern-backed amendment, 199-167. The vote made it apparent that on the final test the civil rights bill will pass the House in a form acceptable to President Eisenhower and its Northern supporters. The showdown is expected Monday.

The fate facing the bill in the Senate is still uncertain. The Senate Judiciary Committee has written a jury trial amendment into its civil rights bill, but 16 senators said Friday they plan a move to bypass the judiciary group and bring the House bill to the Senate floor.

"I honestly believe the work the White House has done in the past week made the difference," said Rep. Willis (D-La.), one of the leaders of the Southern bloc. He spoke in an interview adding: "This is the one they had to go all out on. And I know of specific instances of members who changed their minds under White House pressure."

THERE WAS NO record vote. But as far as could be seen, only 30 to 40 of the 200 House Republicans joined the Southern Democrats who filed between tellers to register their support of the jury trial amendment. The Southerners at one time expressed hopes for 70 or more Republican votes in their favor.

The civil rights bill is perhaps the most controversial of Eisenhower's major domestic proposals and one of the first to approach approval in the House.

The Southerners (and some Northerners) said the amendment would guarantee what they contended is a constitutional right of trial by jury.

But proponents of the civil rights bill contended the amendment would have nullified the measure's effect in the South and that it would have been inconsistent with the general rule that courts can enforce their own orders without juries.

The bill provides that the U. S. attorney general may seek injunctions in federal courts in support of voting and other civil rights. The amendment would have provided that anyone accused of violating such injunctions must be given a jury trial.

Southerners said they will go ahead Monday with other proposed amendments, even though all sides conceded the opponents' best chance was with the jury trial amendment.

The amendments to be pushed are one to require that state court remedies be used before any civil rights actions are brought in federal court, and another specifying that the attorney general must obtain the consent in writing of the person involved before bringing a civil rights suit.

Illinois Capital City Damaged By Tornado

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Two persons were dead, at least 50 injured and a square-mile section of this state capital city resembled a huge trash heap today after a tornado and heavy rains Friday.

Winds of 106 m.p.h. whipped through Springfield's south-southeast area destroying more than 20 homes and damaging 200 others. Nearly every tree was uprooted in two city parks.

About 5,000 telephones, 10 percent of Springfield's total, were out of service early today. And 11 communities had no telephone contact with the capital city of more than 100,000.

All off-duty police and the city's emergency forces helped clear debris and administer first aid to the injured. Hospitals estimated about 50 persons had been treated.

Mrs. Paul Farley, 60, was killed when the tornado shifted her home off its foundation. She was crushed as she stood at the top of the basement steps.

A falling tree toppled a power line atop Mrs. Anna Belle Larson, 37, killing her as she was riding a bicycle.

Only the smokestack remained standing after the storm at the one-story Allis-Chalmers Plant No. 3. The nearby Weaver Manufacturing Co. plant was heavily damaged and the roof of the Cole Chemical Co. building collapsed.

Senate Passes Ike's Foreign Aid Measure

$3,637,000,000 Bill Sent On for Approval By House Members

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's $3,637,000,000 foreign aid bill moved on to the House today, propelled by a 57-25 Senate vote.

Every effort by opponents to trim its totals and limit its authority to one year was smothered in a series of rollcalls that kept the Senate in session almost until Friday midnight.

On final passage, 26 Democrats and 31 Republicans voted for the bill; 17 Democrats and 8 Republicans opposed it.

It was a rare demonstration of Republican unity on a foreign policy matter, with Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, supporting Eisenhower on entry issue. He sometimes has differed with the administration on foreign policy matters.

It also was an exhibition of generalship by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), the majority leader, in keeping many reluctant Democrats in line.

BOTH HELD OUT the possibility of cuts in a later appropriations bill to provide funds for the aid program. They reminded their colleagues that the foreign aid bill is an authorization measure, setting only ceilings and terms.

With Johnson and Knowland working in close harmony behind 89-year-old Chairman Grten (D-R.I.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the bill survived every test despite charges the program is loaded with "giveaways," and "waste and extravagance."

Supporters of the bill said that in arming allies and bolstering their economies, this country is protecting its own security.

The opposition was led by Democratic Sens. Long and Ellender of Louisiana, Morse of Oregon and O'Mahoney of Wyoming. All voted "no" on final passage.

Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) charged that this country already is "mortgaged to the hilt." He and seven other Republicans, Barrett (Wyo.), Bricker (Ohio), Curtis (Neb.), Dworshak (Idaho), Malone (Neb.), Williams (Del.) and Young (ND), voted against final passage.

In addition to providing $1.8 billion in new spending authority for military aid in the next fiscal year, the bill also contains authority for re-appropriating $500 million in military aid funds left over from last year's appropriation.

IT AUTHORIZES $800 million for defense supports in the economic field for allies of the U.S.

It also provides, for the first time, a two-year program in both these categories, with authorization for $1½ billion in military assistance and $710 million in defense supports for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1958. This will permit the administration to include both these items in the Defense Department budget next year.

Another section authorizes a $2 billion revolving fund to make economic development loans under a three-year program. An appropriation of $500 million is stipulated for the first year, and authority is provided to borrow $750 million from the Treasury for each of the succeeding two years.

The measure also carries $151.9 million for technical aid, as well as an added contribution of $15½ million for United Nations technical assistance work and $1½ million for such projects by the Organization of American States.

Citizens Committee Names New Secretary

The Fayette County Citizens Committee named a new secretary at a called meeting Friday night, and Chairman Carl H. Jones suggested that the committee discuss and determine, probably at its next meeting, the exact type of school survey the group considers most appropriate.

With approximately 25 spectators present, Friday night's meeting was moved from the county superintendent's office to the Common Pleas courtroom where the chairman invited the comments of visitors after the business agenda had been completed. Three of the 25 spoke briefly.

New secretary of the committee is Maynard Hoppes, a rural member of the panel, who succeeds Kenneth Bush. The latter, who was not a member of the committee, had served as its secretary since its second meeting, replacing County Superintendent W. J. Hilty. Bush asked to be relieved because of the press of farm work.

His resignation was accepted with regret and the chairman added his thanks for Bush's services. Walter Rettig, one of the three city-appointed members of the committee, nominated Joseph White for the secretaryship, but Hoppes, proposed by Joseph Campbell, was elected by a 6-3 vote.

Norman Boop Is New Head Of Legion Here

Norman F. (Bud) Boop is the new commander of the Paul H. Hughey post of the American Legion here.

He and the other four post officers were elected by the executive committee Friday night.

Paul Souther was named first vice commander; Sam Athey, second vice commander; Francis Morgan, finance officer; and Charles Mallow, adjutant.

The executive committee which elected the post officer from within its membership was elected by the membership last Monday.

Boop, who will succeed Russ Whitte as commander, is a veteran of World War II. He served with the Air Transport Command from August of 1942 to February of 1946. Most of his active duty was in North Africa.

THE NEW officers will be installed formally in about a month but the exact date for the installation has not been set.

Boop, owner and manager of the Fayette Credit Bureau, came to Washington C. H. from Portsmouth in 1952 following his graduation from the law school of Ohio Northern University.

His father, Gus F. Boop is a former commander of the seventh district of the Legion. He is now the Legion service officer in Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. Boop and their three sons live at 532 Albin Ave. Among the commander-elect's first official actions were the appointment of Gene Ladrach as chaplain; Don Campbell, athletic officer; Robert Antoine, service officer and Dave Reed, sergeant-at-arms.

Western Aides Note Points Still Unsettled

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union's offer to admit Western inspectors if agreement is reached on a nuclear test ban was seen in Western quarters today as a major step forward in disarmament negotiations. But many details must be clarified.

The proposal was put to the U. N. Disarmament Subcommittee Friday by Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin. He suggested a two or three year halt to nuclear tests with an international committee under the United Nations to enforce it.

Zorin said the Soviet Union would agree to admit Western inspectors if there was agreement to the moratorium on nuclear tests.

Until now, the Soviet Union had rejected Western demands that any halt to nuclear tests be backed up by inspection. The Soviets held that the tests could be ended by a simple agreement among the H-bomb nations, Britain, Russia and the United States.

The immediate reaction from Western sources was that the Soviet proposal represented an important advance but that it needed to be thought out before its significance can be judged.

JULES MOCH, French representative, told Zorin an ending of tests would be no guarantee to the halting of production of hydrogen bombs.

The Western position is that the scientific knowledge gained over the years from nuclear tests could permit the H-bomb race to continue. The West insists that inspection and enforcement apply to the production of fissionable materials as well as to test explosions.

Zorin gave no reply when asked by U. S. Delegate Harold E. Stassen if his proposal represented a change in Soviet thinking on the ending of the production of fissionable materials.

Meanwhile, the New York Herald Tribune said in a story from Washington that the Soviet proposal was not acceptable to U. S. officials because it is too long and includes only scientific inspection.

The paper said the U. S. feels "it is essential" to include air and ground disarmament policing.

The Herald Tribune said the United States will seek to sell its allies on a 10-month trial suspension of nuclear tests, provided the Soviet agrees to the same.

Federal Judge Hears Final Arguments in Girard Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—Final arguments on the legality of a U. S. decision to let Japanese courts try GI William S. Girard have been submitted to Federal District Judge Joseph C. McGarraghay. His ruling is expected next week.

Girard, an Army specialist, is accused of fatally wounding a Japanese woman who was scavenging for scrap metal in an area used by the Army in Japan.

The government's lawyers headed by U. S. Atty. Oliver Gasch, spoke in turn of the "absurdity" of legal contentions made on Girard's behalf. They insisted Congress has agreed to permit trial by foreign courts of American servicemen accused of violating civil laws abroad.

MEANWHILE, a new and seemingly unrelated incident may weaken the Japanese case against Girard, it was disclosed by court attaches at Maebashi, Japan, where the soldier is slated to be tried for manslaughter.

Hidetugu Onozeki, 29, the chief Japanese witness against Girard, became involved in a street brawl outside a bar with three GIs of Girard's outfit, the 1st Cavalry Division. Police said he signed a confession that he "beat one of the soldiers with a piece of wood."

The Jaycees reported a three-day total of 30 new memberships at an end-of-drive banquet in the Hotel Washington Friday night. Their nearest competitor, the Directors' team, had 17.

A total of 57 new members were brought into the Chamber by the four teams.

Ogan's total meant not only that he had more than half of the new members rounded up by his team, but that he had more than any of the three five-man losing teams combined.

HIGH MAN for the Directors was Wayne Bower, who had seven new members.

The Retail team brought in six new members, with Verne Haugen

Addition of the 57 new members brings total Chamber membership right now to 376, Stoughton pointed out.

Trucker Hurt In CCC Crash

Construction Zone Scene of Accident

A South Lebanon truck driver was injured and his dump truck was demolished about 2:45 p. m. Friday in the second recent accident in the road construction area on the CCC Highway east.

The Fayette County Sheriff's office announced that speed limits in and around the construction area will henceforth be "strictly enforced."

Treated in the emergency room at Memorial Hospital for head bruises and a strained back was Bob Dingus, 27, who is employed by one of the construction crews.

He was injured when his truck crashed into the rear of a semi-trailer driven by Richard Edward Remley, 25, of Hamilton. Remley's truck was stopped along with a line of cars waiting to pass through the one-lane construction area.

THE FRONT END of Dingus' truck was caved in sheriff's officers said. The rear end of Remley's truck was not seriously damaged. Dingus was released from the hospital after treatment.

Sheriff's officers pointed out Saturday that the speed limit on the CCC Highway from Washington C. H. all the way to Mt. Sterling is 45 miles per hour. Speed limit within the construction area itself is 25.

"We can almost count on having a couple more accidents out there this summer," Deputy Sheriff Donald Thompson said, adding "but we want to do all we can to avoid them."

"So we're going to bear down."

$2000 Trust Fund Grows to Near Million Dollars

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Twenty-one years ago when Donald Ellis Simon was a baby a $2,000 trust fund was established for him.

Today the fund has grown to $980,000.

Donald became 21 last April and a final accounting of the fund was approved here Friday.

The fund, established by the boy's father, Norton Simon, now chairman of the executive committee of Hunt Foods, consisted of five shares of stock in a canning company.

Through various investments, stock mergers and stock splits, the trust fund grew until it reached just short of $1 million.

Wheat Quota Vote Slated Next Thursday

By MRS. FRED SHOOP
Office Manager
Fayette County ASC

Wheat marketing quotas have been proclaimed for the 1958 crop, as required by law under the present supply situation.

In a national referendum Thursday, June 20, wheat growers themselves will make the final decision on whether the quotas will be in effect next year. At least two-thirds of those who vote must favor quotas if they are to be in operation.

The basic choices on which

farmers will be voting are as follows:

If quotas are approved—All farmers in commercial wheat states with more than 15 acres of wheat will be subject to quotas.

Any "excess" wheat will be subject to quota penalties. Price support at a national average of $1.78 a bushel will be available to producers who do not exceed their farm acreage allotments.

If quotas are not approved—There will be no quotas or quota penalties. Acreage allotments will remain in effect.

Price support will be available at 50 per cent of parity for producers who comply with their farm wheat allotments. (Fifty per cent of parity applicable to the 1958 crop is estimated to be $1.18 a bushel.)

The referendum vote is on quotas, not allotments. The law requires that allotments be in effect every year, unless suspended because of emergency conditions. There will be wheat acreage allotements for 1958, therefore, even if quotas are disapproved.

ALL PERSONS are eligible to vote in the June 20 quota referendum who will share in the 1958 wheat crop from a farm in the commercial wheat area on which the wheat acreage to be placed in the wheat acreage reserve, will be more than 15 acres.

The total wheat supply for the marketing year beginning July 1, 1957, is estimated at more than 1,800,000,000 bushels. This is 56 per cent of the 1957-58 crop.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (AP)—A teenage farm wife was shot and critically wounded Friday night in what her husband said was a play duel with real bullets.

Mrs. Leona Fern Chapman, 16, was in critical condition in Harford Memorial Hospital with a bullet wound in her abdomen.

No charges have been placed against Chapman, police said.

Senate Passes Ike's Foreign Aid Measure

$3,637,000,000 Bill Sent On for Approval By House Members

Survey Decision May Be Next on Agenda

Citizens Committee Names New Secretary

The Fayette County Citizens Committee named a new secretary at a called meeting Friday night, and Chairman Carl H. Jones suggested that the committee discuss and determine, probably at its next meeting, the exact type of school survey the group considers most appropriate.

With approximately 25 spectators present, Friday night's meeting was moved from the county superintendent's office to the Common Pleas courtroom where the chairman invited the comments of visitors after the business agenda had been completed. Three of the 25 spoke briefly.

THAT ITEM of business completed, the following prepared statement by Chairman Jones was made a part of the minutes. "About four months ago the Fayette County Citizens Committee was authorized by the County Board of Education. The several boards named delegates and shortly thereafter a committee of nine was named at a convention of delegates, as prescribed by law.

"It is the responsibility of the committee to make a study or survey and within one year report a plan of district organization to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

"Since the reconstitution of the Fayette County Citizens Committee about three months ago, several survey agencies — four to be exact, have appeared before the committee to discuss the Fayette County situation.

"The chair, at this time, wishes to suggest that probably at the next regular meeting the committee should discuss and determine the exact type of survey they deem most appropriate for all of Fayette County. The chair earnestly requests each member of the Citizens Committee to give this matter his earnest consideration and be prepared to state his point of view at the next regular meeting. Should the survey be of the comprehensive type conducted by an outside agency; a modified comprehensive; modified comprehensive dealing with district organization only; or a city-county survey conducted by the committee itself, either with or without the benefit of outside assistance?"

WHEN THE CHAIR opened the meeting to comment from the visitors' gallery, Mrs. C. Elton Rhoad told the committee that it is her sincere hope that the committee will bring forth the best possible recommendation for the school needs of every Fayette County child.

She urged that rural and city members of the committee work together, pointing out that any recommendation would still have to be approved at the ballot box.

Citing the recent appointment of a probation officer for Juvenile Court, Mrs. Rhoad said that the need for such an appointment indicated that Fayette County's schools are not meeting their challenge.

"This committee is teaching democracy by its actions," she concluded.

ROBERT CASE rose to endorse Mrs. Rhoad's remarks, and Mrs. Ray French suggested that every one keep the Golden Rule in mind while seeking a solution to the problems at hand—adding that the issues are important enough to "take a little time for prayer."

Before adjourning, Rettig's motion that the committee's next meeting be held in the courtroom rather than in the small first-floor school office was approved on condition that the committee have the written consent of the court to use the auditorium.

The next regular meeting date is June 27.

Among the spectators was John MacMahon of the Columbus law firm which represented a group of Fayette County taxpayers in their suit for establishment of the Citizens Committee.

The proposal was put to the U. N. Disarmament Subcommittee Friday by Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin. He suggested a two or three year halt to nuclear tests with an international committee under the United Nations to enforce it.

Zorin said the Soviet Union would agree to admit Western inspectors if there was agreement to the moratorium on nuclear tests.

Until now, the Soviet Union had rejected Western demands that any halt to nuclear tests be backed up by inspection. The Soviets held that the tests could be ended by a simple agreement among the H-bomb nations, Britain, Russia and the United States.

The immediate reaction from Western sources was that the Soviet proposal represented an important advance but that it needed to be thought out before its significance can be judged.

JULES MOCH, French representative, told Zorin an ending of tests would be no guarantee to the halting of production of hydrogen bombs.

The Western position is that the scientific knowledge gained over the years from nuclear tests could permit the H-bomb race to continue. The West insists that inspection and enforcement apply to the production of fissionable materials as well as to test explosions.

Zorin gave no reply when asked by U.S. Delegate Harold E. Stassen if his proposal represented a change in Soviet thinking on the ending of the production of fissionable materials.

Meanwhile, the New York Herald Tribune said in a story from Washington that the Soviet proposal was not acceptable to U.S. officials because it is too long and includes only scientific inspection.

The paper said the U.S. feels "it is essential" to include air and ground disarmament policing. The Herald Tribune said the United States will seek to sell its allies on a 10-month trial suspension of nuclear tests, provided the Soviet agrees to the same.

Federal Judge Hears Final Arguments in Girard Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—Final arguments on the legality of a U. S. decision to let Japanese courts try GI William S. Girard have been submitted to Federal District Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy. His ruling is expected next week.

Girard, an Army specialist, is accused of fatally wounding a Japanese woman who was scavenging for scrap metal in an area used by the Army in Japan.

The government's lawyers headed by U. S. Atty. Oliver Gasch, spoke in turn of the "absurdity" of legal contentions made on Girard's behalf. They insisted Congress has agreed to permit trial by foreign courts of American servicemen accused of violating civil laws abroad.

MEANWHILE, a new and seemingly unrelated incident may weaken the Japanese case against Girard, it was disclosed by court attaches at Maebashi, Japan, where the soldier is slated to be tried for manslaughter.

Hidetugu Onozeki, 29, the chief Japanese witness against Girard, became involved in a street brawl outside a bar with three GIs of Girard's outfit, the 1st Cavalry Division. Police said he signed a confession that he "beat one of the soldiers with a piece of wood."

Onozeki is the witness who told Japanese police he saw Girard scatter empty cartridges to lure day drive which closed Friday winning for himself and his Jaycees team two free dinners and trip to a Cincinnati Redlegs baseball game.

The Jaycees reported a three-day total of 30 new memberships at an end-of-drive banquet in the Hotel Washington Friday night. Their nearest competitor, the Directors' team, had 17.

A total of 57 new members were brought into the Chamber by the four teams.

Ogan's total meant not only that he had more than half of the new members rounded up by his team, but that he had more than any of the three five-man losing teams combined.

HIGH MAN for the Directors was Wayne Bower, who had seven new members.

The Retail team brought in six new members, with Verne Haugen

Lebanon Market Owner Is Robbed of $3500 LEBANON (AP)—A supermarket owner was robbed of $3,500 to $4,000 Friday while returning from a bank.

The owner, Irwin Ehrlich, obtained the money to cash payroll checks at his store. Investigators quoted Ehrlich as saying two young men accosted him as he left his car behind the market, snatched the money and fled.

Sheriff's officers pointed out Saturday that the speed limit on the CCC Highway from Washington C. H. all the way to Mt. Sterling is 45 miles per hour. Speed limit within the construction area itself is 25.

"We can almost count on having a couple more accidents out there this summer," Deputy Sheriff Donald Thompson said, adding "but we want to do all we can to avoid them."

$2000 Trust Fund Grows to Near Million Dollars

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Twenty-one years ago when Donald Ellis Simon was a baby a $2,000 trust fund was established for him.

Today the fund has grown to $880,000.

Donald became 21 last April and a final accounting of the fund was approved here Friday.

The fund, established by the boy's father, Norton Simon, now chairman of the executive committee of Hunt Foods, consisted of five shares of stock in a canning company.

Through various investments, stock mergers and stock splits, the trust fund grew until it reached just short of $1 million.

7 Union Pickets Held After Fight in Dayton

DAYTON (AP)—Seven union pickets were arrested Friday after a fight broke out when several Lau Bower Co. employees attempted to cross the picket line set up by the striking United Steelworkers.

The plant was struck May 1 in a wage dispute. The company has issued an ultimatum to strikers to return to work by Monday or be dismissed.

Wheat Quota Vote Slated Next Thursday

By MRS. FRED SHOOP, Office Manager Fayette County ASC

Wheat marketing quotas have been proclaimed for the 1958 crop, as required by law under the present supply situation.

In a national referendum Thursday, June 20, wheat growers themselves will make the final decision on whether the quotas will be in effect next year. At least two-thirds of those who vote must favor or quotas if they are to be in operation.

The basic choices on which

farmers will be voting are as follows:

If quotas are approved—All farmers in commercial wheat states with more than 15 acres of wheat will be subject to quotas. Any "excess" wheat will be subject to quota penalties. Price support at a national average of $1.78 a bushel will be extended to producers who do not exceed their farm acreage allotments. If quotas are not approved—There will be no quotas or quota penalties. Acreage allotments will remain in effect. Price support will be available at 50 per cent of parity for producers who comply with their farm wheat allotments. (Fifty per cent of parity applicable to the 1958 crop is estimated to be $1.18 a bushel).

The referendum vote is on quotas, not allotments. The law requires that allotments be in effect every year, unless suspended because of emergency conditions. There will be wheat acreage allot-

Plowing Methods Change over Years

Rudy and Roger Show How It's Done

By B. E. KELLEY

Farmers throughout the county, when weather permits, are cultivating their corn—if they were fortunate enough to get it planted early.

Cultivation work is done rapidly with modern power equipment and when two or three two-row cultivators are operating in the same field, they do the job quickly.

Many of the big farm tractor outfits are being operated by young boys, who apparently are just as skilled in handling the tractor-cultivators as men who operate them.

RODGER was seated on the front end of the tractor being operated by his father when I first saw them moving slowly down the field, and just to prove that he also could operate the outfit, he moved it skillfully from one place to another. Cultivating corn used to be quite a different task, and a much slower one. We used double-shovel plows until the one-row walking cultivator came into use, and used a double-shovel to which was attached "Old Moll," one of the most dependable of the eight horses we had. That was on a farm in Paint Township.

WITH the double-shovel only one side of a row of corn could be plowed or cultivated at a time. A "bull-tongue" shovel was used next to the corn and a much larger shovel for the middle of the two rows. It was not too difficult to plow corn while barefooted, unless the plowing was under dead honeylocust trees, or when it was necessary to walk on the ball of one foot by reason of a stone bruise on the heel.

Now there is no walking. No bare feet in the fields. No yelling "gee!" "Haw" and "whoa" to control the horses.

Verily changes on the farm have kept pace with changes in the industrial world and everywhere else.

Plant Food Boosts Profits

Fertilizer can help boost wheat yields at least 9½ bushels per acre, reports the Middle West Soil Im-

Smith reports that wheat responds more profitably to fertilizer use than any other crop.

The 9½ bushel increase, he said, could be accomplished by the use of only 25 pounds of nitrogen per acre, plus necessary phosphate and potash fertilizer.

AN EXTRA four bushels per acre, he said, can be added to the wheat yield by doubling the nitrogen application.

Smith says that fertilizer can increase wheat yields in dry years as well as wet ones.

Farm experiences in some other Midwestern states indicates that it often pays to use 200 to 300 pounds of a complete fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphate and potash, such as 10-10-10, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

Econogram for Farmers

EDITOR'S NOTE: These news highlights in economics and public affairs relating to agriculture are summarized by agricultural extension economists at Ohio State University.

General business outlook hasn't changed much in recent weeks. There still seems to be overall confidence in the future. Money is still fairly tight. Some soft spots are evident in economy but generally no great concern about immediate situation in most areas.

Don't forget wheat referendum on June 20. Whether or not it passes will determine both level of price support and whether or not there will be marketing quotas (which carries with it a penalty for production from excess acres). Penalty for "excess" wheat from 1957 crop has been set at $1.12 per bu.

Wheat price support varies by counties. For the 1957 crop county rates vary from $2.04 to $2.10 per bu. according to the county. National average support rate for 1957 wheat crop is $2 per bu.

CCC support program on May 1 amounted to $7.8 bil. made up of $2.3 bil. loans and $5.5 bil. cost of inventories. Last May investment was $8.6 bil. Bulk in four commodities—corn, cotton, tobacco, and wheat.

FATS AND OILS for food consumption amounted to 44.4 lbs. per person in 1956. Consumption per capita by commodities follows (figures in parentheses are change from 1950): Butter, 8.7 lbs. (-3.0); lard, 9.9 lbs. (-2.7); margarine, 8.2 lbs. (+1.5); shortening, 10.9 lbs. (-1.1); edible oils, 10.0 lbs. (+1.4).

Fats and oils consumption per person in 1956 declined to lowest level in decade. Disappearance of food dropped about 1 lb. and non-food ½ lb from 1955. Main decline in fat and oil food usage was in shortening and in the non-food category nearly all the drop was in soap.

Butter and margarine consumption per person in recent years each have leveled off at between 8 and 9 lbs. average. Twenty years ago average butter consumption per person was 3.1 lbs.

Hog-corn price ratio (bu. of corn equal in value to 100 lbs. live hog) was 14.5 in May in North Central States. Last May it was 11.2. Average May ratio for years 1946-55 was 13.7. Hog prices in 1958 likely will be low enough to pull this ratio to average or below a year from now.

Acreage of processing vegetables expected to be down 3 percent from last year. Large reductions are in prospect for processing tomatoes, green lima beans, beets, and contract kraut cabbage. More acreage of snap beans, spring eggplant and celery.

Spring vegetable supplies for fresh market in total also will be a great deal shorter this spring than last. Most reductions expected are for early spring sweet corn, onions, and tomatoes, spring peppers, and shallots. Larger supplies are expected for early spring cauliflower, cucumbers and lettuce, early asparagus, snap beans, spring eggplant and celery.

The canning industry originated in the Napoleonic wars when soldiers demanded some means to keep their food from spoiling on journeys from battlefield to battlefield.

Fifth Annual 'Turkey Day' Set June 19

WOOSTER — Chester M. Kessler will be the featured speaker at the fifth annual Turkey Day to be held at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station here Wednesday.

Kessler is assistant sales manager of a milling firm in Chicago. He will speak on "The Ten Commandments of Selling."

Registration for visitors will start at 9 a. m. EST at the station's new service building just east of the administration building on the campus.

During the morning program tours will take visitors to the turkey research farm where staff members will point out work that is being carried on. A discussion will be held just before the recess for lunch. This will include hemorrhagic disorders, recent developments in nutrition, reduction of losses and some of the factors affecting artificial insemination of turkeys.

During the afternoon program the research progress will be further discussed. Feeding systems and protein requirement will be features along with a report on crossbreeding turkeys.

Panel discussion on how to control turkey diseases will conclude the afternoon program. The panel will consist of state and station turkey specialists and industry representatives and will be moderated by Dr. Glyde Marsh, extension poultryman. Lunch will be available on the grounds.

Watch for Blackleg, Cattle Raisers Told

With the arrival of the blackleg season, authorities today warn cattle raisers to be on the alert for this disease, and to employ protective vaccination in danger areas.

The American Foundation for Animal Health pointed out that the threat of blackleg increases with the arrival of the pasture season. The disease is one of the nation's greatest killers of cattle. It most often strikes animals under two years of age. The best safeguard against it is vaccination.

Farmers who had their calves vaccinated at one or two weeks of age should have them re-vaccinated again by the veterinarian by the time they are four months old, the Foundation says.

Blackleg spores are very difficult to kill. The organisms that cause the disease live in the soil and are resistant to heat, cold, drought or floods.

In areas where the disease has occurred before, all calves should be vaccinated by a veterinarian each year, the Foundation suggests.

Egg Graders' 'College' Set At Ohio State

COLUMBUS — One of the nation's most unusual "colleges" will open its doors here Tuesday. It's the four day egg grading quality school, held on the campus of Ohio State University under the sponsorship of the Northeastern Poultry Producers Council (NEPPCO).

The council has developed a "do-it-yourself" training method to teach poultrymen and egg handlers the fine points of grading eggs for size and interior quality.

The upshot is more uniform, high quality eggs for the housewife as graduates return to their full-time tasks of packing and distributing eggs.

The primary purpose of the school is to enable those in the egg business to learn more about egg quality and how to provide a better egg merchandising service.

IT TEACHES correct egg grading, stressing federal standards of quality and their practical interpretation before the candling light.

At any given moment students may be seen sitting in class or crossing the campus rolling eggs in their hands. The reason is simple. Each is given four hard-cooked eggs as he registers. He's told to practice rolling two in each hand in the accepted candling procedure.

Although 26 egg grading schools have been sponsored by NEPPCO over the years, this is the first to be held in Ohio. Registration forms may be obtained from the poultry department at Ohio State.

Details of 73-Year-Old Murder Recalled

By B. E. KELLEY

One of the worst crimes ever committed in Fayette County was the murder of John Floyd Mason, 24, who was beaten to death 73 years ago for a small amount of money he carried. His body was left to decay in a thick woods on the Hoyt land, on Harrison Rd., a mile and a half northwest of Madison Mills.

It was nearly 10 days before the badly decomposed body was found by a boy picking blackberries.

Within a day or two William Greaver, 19, an orphan who made his home with his grandmother in Madison Mills, was arrested for the crime. He was later convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment in the Ohio Penitentiary.

While most of the residents of Madison Township have either never heard of the murder, or have almost forgotten the story, there is one woman, now nearly 87 years of age, who vividly recalls all of the details, although at the time she was a small girl and a pupil at Jefferson School, a half mile west of the scene of the murder.

THIS WOMAN is Miss Della Traub, of the White Oak Rd. from whom I obtained most of my information concerning the crime. The rest was gleaned from the old records in the Clerk of Courts office here.

Miss Traub has an unusually keen mind and recalls a great many things of interest in her community, where she resides in the house in which she was born.

This is the information given to me by Mrs. Traub:

JOHN FLOYD MASON resided in West Virginia, and had been employed for several months by a Mr. Kilgore, of near Danville, in Madison County.

He was enroute home, with his summer's wages in his pocket, and had a ring which had been given to him by the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kilgore, a music teacher. He also carried a watch.

At that time much of the land along Harrison Rd. was densely wooded. The road itself was little more than a muddy lane winding through the woods.

Mason fell in with Greaver along the Harrison Rd., and when Greaver learned that Mason carried money and other valuables, he took Mason unawares and crushed his skull with a club, causing almost instant death.

A standard from a hayrack on a farm wagon had been lost on the Harrison Rd., and Greaver is said to have picked it up and used it to strike down his unsuspecting companion. It was a piece of wood some five feet in length and more than two inches thick.

Greaver rifled Mason's pockets, taking the money, watch and ring. He then dragged Mason's body into the woods and left it under a tree some 20 or 30 feet from the road.

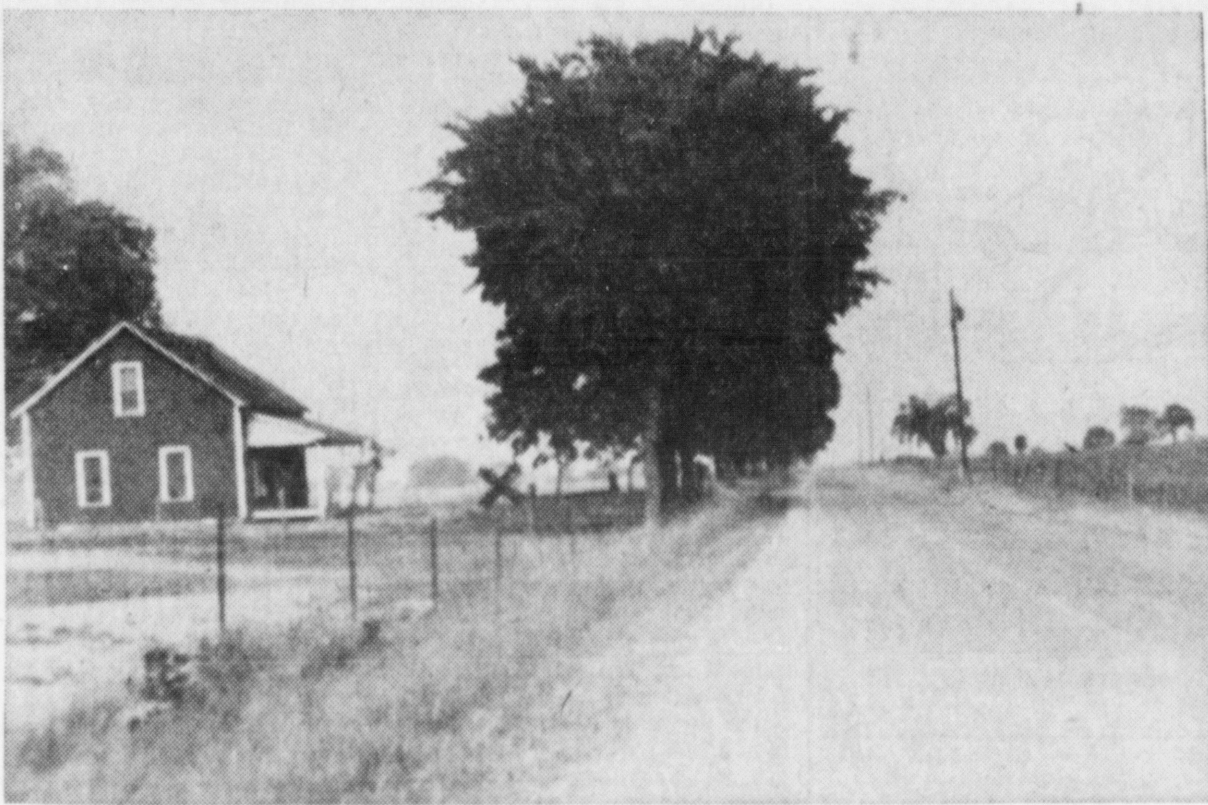

COMING to Washington C. H., Greaver pawned the watch and ring, and these later were recovered by the officers. Greaver was identified as the man who pawned the ring and watch and Miss Kilgore identified the ring as the one she gave Mason.

It was a week or 10 days after the murder before a Mrs. Allen and her son, who resided in a log cabin or what is now the Freddie LeBeau property went into the woods on the Hoyt land, now the Aldridge land, to pick blackberries, and the son, Jess, came upon the body and summoned his mother.

Hurrying from the woods Mrs. Allen contacted a passerby, who in turn notified a threshing crew on the Robert Jefferson farm, and all of the men went to the scene.

The coroner was summoned to the scene, made a short investigation, and had the body rolled upon a canvas and hauled to the Madison Mills Cemetery, where it was buried in the "potter's field," without services, so far as is known.

NEWS OF THE FIND spread

MURDER SCENE — This is Harrison Rd., in Madison Township 1½ miles west of Madison Mills, where William Greaver murdered John Floyd Mason 73 years ago. He dragged his body into the woods (marked by cross) where it was found 10 days later badly decomposed. The spot was on the former Hoyt land, 100 feet east of the tenant house shown at left. The view is from the west.

rapidly, and even though Mason was unknown in the community, indignation was high. It was not until the accused man was in custody, and had been brought to this city by horse and buggy that officers felt easier.

Greaver had been seen with Mason shortly before the crime, and was immediately suspected, so the Madison Township constable and Scott H. Harrison, started looking for Greaver.

They found him at the Levisy home on the Harrison Rd., where he was talking with Levisy. Greaver was armed with a large knife which he was using in whittling.

After talking for a short time Harrison asked Greaver if he could borrow his knife a moment and Greaver passed it over to him.

The two men then placed Greaver under arrest and a formal charge of first degree murder was filed against him in the court of Justice J. D. Ogle by F. H. Knott.

COURT RECORDS here show that the crime was allegedly committed on Aug. 18, 1884, but it was not until 10 days later that a charge was filed and Greaver arrested for the crime.

Justice Ogle held him to the grand jury on the first degree murder charge, without bond.

He subsequently was indicted by the grand jury of which John Horney was the foreman.

Judge Ace Gregg was common pleas judge at that time, and he appointed Harry M. Daugherty, and Mills Gardner, two of the foremost attorneys of the day, to defend Greaver. E. W. Welsheimer was clerk of courts at the time.

J. F. Cook was sheriff.

Greaver's trial was set for Dec. 15, 1884, and Frank J. Carpenter, prosecutor, represented the state. Carpenter later was common pleas judge for many years.

Gardner was congressman in later years, and Daugherty was U. S. attorney general in the Harding Administration.

The trial lasted from Dec. 15 until Dec. 24, when the jury brought in a verdict of guilty of second degree murder.

THE JURY was composed of the following men (no women were permitted on juries at that time): John Horney, H. T. Evans, W. D.

Smith, M. A. Plymire, Levi Rice, Thomas K. Sexton, John Rook, W. H. Hughes, Silas Weaver, A. A. Keer, T. J. Baughan and H. S. Long.

On Dec. 26, Greaver was brought before Judge Gregg, had nothing to say, and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Ohio Penitentiary, and removed to that institution the following day.

The two able defenders of Greaver were largely responsible for the verdict of a lesser crime than that charged in the indictment, and thus Greaver escaped with his life.

From Court Bailiff David Whiteside I learned that Greaver had been working for his father, Ezekiel Whiteside, of the Blue Rd., three miles northeast of Yatesville, and probably was enroute to his grandmother's home in Madison Mills, when he fell in with Mason who also was walking in that direction from near Danville.

Rumors were current that Greaves had picked Mr. Whiteside as his next victim, when the law caught up with him for murdering Mason.

MISS TRAUB recalls that after serving in the penitentiary for many years, Greaver was given his freedom, because he had been a model prisoner.

Greaver asked that he be permitted to continue working in the big penitentiary, saying he would not know which way to turn if he went out into the world, and he was furnished with employment as an engineer in the institution, she recalls.

Miss Traub also recalls that a large limb on the tree under which the murdered man was found, extended out over the spot where the body lay, and there were threats in the neighborhood of removing Greaver from the county jail and hanging him to that limb.

YEARS AFTER THE crime the Hoyt land was cleared except the tree under which Mason's body was found, and it was allowed to stand until it died.

The stump of the tree remained for years, and I recall seeing it. I also recall that one of the men who visited the scene before the body was moved was John Bragg, formerly of this city, who told me about the crime 40 years ago.

The place where Mason's body was found was immediately east of a tenant house, a short distance east of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Grimm.

On the spot where the tenant house now stands, a slab and log hut had been erected when the Hoyt land was being cleared some years after the murder.

The last persons to occupy it were so objectionable, I was informed, that the shack was mysteriously destroyed by fire soon after it was vacated by the family.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

Harry Miller, S. Fayette St., the man who helped George Swope construct the only automobile ever built in Fayette County, back in 1901, is now building the replica of a 1903 model of the "Orient", a "buckboard" type car with motor mounted at the back. It has a chain drive, and a "one lung" (cylinder) gasoline engine (which had been used as a stationary engine) developing six horse power.

Harry started the old type car May 15 and expects to finish it during the next two or three months. He is being backed in the venture by Dick Yates, who is furnishing some of the parts.

Harry, who is an expert mechanic, is making other parts for the car which is similar to one he drove in the early days of the automobile, and which he later sold to Len Crabbill of Waterloo.

The model has wire spoke wheels, and the body of the car will be of heavy oak boards mounted on hickory stringer, which will furnish most of the spring.

The seat will be mounted on springs similar to those used as seats for wagon beds.

The old-time model is expected to develop a top speed of 35 miles an hour.

One of the features of the car will be a lever or handle to operate it, instead of a steering wheel.

Harry assured me that the car will have three speeds, and that it will run in reverse. He recalled that time when the forward speed went wrong in a two-lung car he was driving home and he spent three hours, at night, backing the car into Washington C. H. from near Greenfield.

FEWER THISTLES

From observation at various points in the county where Canadian thistles have been making inroads in some fields, I note that most of the farm owners, realizing the dangerous nature of the thistles, have succeeded in eliminating them.

Spraying, burning and plowing were used to eradicate the thistles, which spread from running roots and countless numbers of seed.

In some parts of Canada I have seen tracts of land completely covered to the exclusion of everything else. Once thistles obtain a foothold, and are neglected a few years, it is extremely difficult to eradicate them without considerable expense.

County and state highway officials are giving more attention to prompt eradication of the Canadian thistles than they did in previous years, and, as a result, few of them are found on the highway rights of way.

Farmers also are keeping their eyes open for Johnson grass, an equally dangerous growth which completely smothered all crops wherever it is not eradicated promptly.

LAST 50 VETERANS

I have before me a list of the last 50 Civil War veterans in Fayette County, as of April 29, 1928. The last of the large number of Fayette Countians who fought to preserve the Union answered the call of the Great Commander in quick succession until the last one, Elon Thornton, died at his home on Oakland Ave., May 15, 1941.

Over a long period of years I watched the ranks of "The Boys in Blue" grow thinner and thinner until the last one had joined the comrades who had gone before.

I knew scores of them, and often listened to their stories of their experiences under the Stars and Stripes, their close calls in battle and their adventures, privations, all that goes with active service during wartime.

The list of the last 50 survivors residing in Fayette County on the above date follows:

Frank M. Allen, Anderson Arnold, Albert Bonecutter, Elisha H. Baughn, Isaac Bennett, Joel Barrett, J. S. Cockerill, John Clark, Ab Coler, Elisha Edwards, George W. English, M. S. Elliott, W. A. Freeman, George E. Foy, George Gossard, Smith Gray, R. H. Harrop, John Harper, David Hopkins, Henry Jenkins, Andrew Jenkins, William Johnson, Henry Johnson, Dan B. Johnson, Thomas Jarnigan, Thomas Jenkins, S. P. Simmons, A. H. Moomaw, Allen McDaniels, Nelson Maddux, William Nelson, Ervin Parrett, John A. Patton, Henry V. Rodgers, I. N. Rowe, John L. Reed, Wesley Rader, Isaac P. Snyder, M. J. Sturgeon, Al Schaff, LaFayette Strope, Elon Thornton, John Taylor, J. C. Vlerebome, Samuel Vince, Gus A. McAllister, George W. Steward and Jephtha Gossard.

LOCUSTS PASSING OUT

Within the next week or 10 days the 17-year locusts, which have made life miserable for residents throughout Southern Ohio, will be a thing of the past once more.

The locust, or cicada, has an adult life of five to six weeks, and in some places the noisy insects already have overstayed their normal life span.

Considerable damage was done to orchards through the many infested counties, by the females laying eggs under the bark of twigs. The locusts touched only the southern part of Fayette County this time, and there were some woods north of the east and west line of infestation which contained hordes of the insects. The farthest north in the county reached by the present brood was the Rock Mills community.

The next visitation in Fayette County, many years hence, will be over most of the area not reached by the locusts this year.

Discharges, or separation papers, were recorded by 17 servicemen in May of this year, compared with four in May of last year.

Fees for recording these various documents in May of this year amounted to $630 while for the same month last year they added up to $692.

Details of 73-Year-Old Murder Recalled

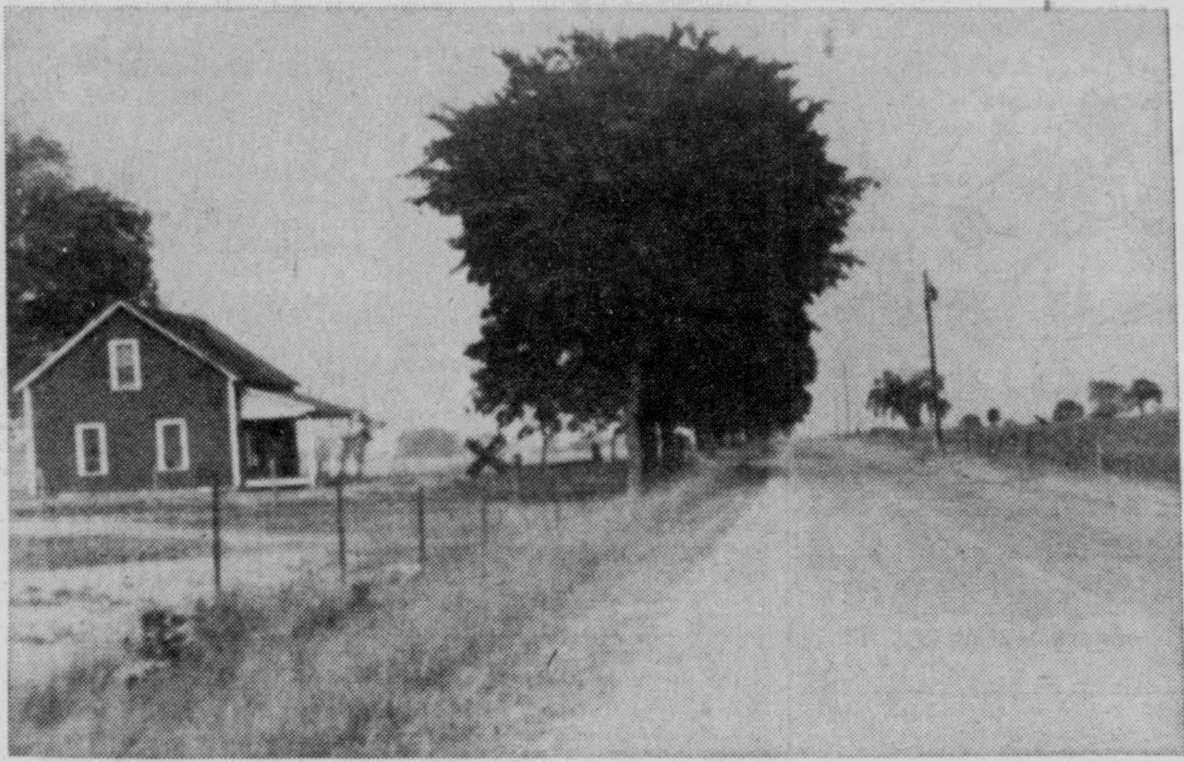

By B. E. KELLEY

One of the worst crimes ever committed in Fayette County was the murder of John Floyd Mason, 24, who was beaten to death 73 years ago for a small amount of money he carried. His body was left to decay in a thick woods on the Hoyt land, on Harrison Rd., a mile and a half northwest of Madison Mills.

It was nearly 10 days before the badly decomposed body was found by a boy picking blackberries.

Within a day or two William Greaver, 19, an orphan who made his home with his grandmother in Madison Mills, was arrested for the crime. He was later convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment in the Ohio Penitentiary.

While most of the residents of Madison Township have either never heard of the murder, or have almost forgotten the story, there is one woman, now nearly 87 years of age, who vividly recalls all of the details, although at the time she was a small girl and a pupil at Jefferson School, a half mile west of the scene of the murder.

MURDER SCENE — This is Harrison Rd. in Madison Township 1 1/2 miles west of Madison Mills, where William Greaver murdered John Floyd Mason 73 years ago. He dragged his body into the woods (marked by cross) where it was found 10 days later badly decomposed. The spot was on the former Hoyt land, 100 feet east of the tenant house shown at left. The view is from the west.

THIS WOMAN is Miss Della Traub, of the White Oak Rd. from whom I obtained most of my information concerning the crime. The rest was gleaned from the old records in the Clerk of Courts office here.

Miss Traub has an unusually keen mind and recalls a great many things of interest in her community, where she resides in the house in which she was born.

This is the information given to me by Mrs. Traub:

JOHN FLOYD MASON resided in West Virginia, and had been employed for several months by a Mr. Kilgore, of near Danville, in Madison County.

He was enroute home, with his summer's wages in his pocket, and had a ring which had been given to him by the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kilgore, a music teacher. He also carried a watch.

At that time much of the land along Harrison Rd. was densely wooded. The road itself was little more than a muddy lane winding through the woods.

Mason fell in with Greaver along the Harrison Rd., and when Greaver learned that Mason carried money and other valuables, he took Mason unawares and crushed his skull with a club, causing almost instant death.

A standard from a hayrack on a farm wagon had been lost on the Harrison Rd., and Greaver is said to have picked this up and used it to strike down his unsuspecting companion. It was a piece of wood some five feet in length and more than two inches thick.

Greaver rifled Mason's pockets, taking the money, watch and ring. He then dragged Mason's body into the woods and left it under a tree some 20 or 30 feet from the road.

COMING to Washington C. H., Greaver pawned the watch and ring, and these later were recovered by the officers. Greaver was identified as the man who pawned the ring and watch and Miss Kilgore identified the ring as the one she gave Mason.

It was a week or 10 days after the murder before a Mrs. Allen and her son, who resided in a log cabin or what is now the Freddie LeBeau property went into the woods on the Hoyt land, now the Aldridge land, to pick blackberries, and the son, Jess, came upon the body and summoned his mother.

Hurrying from the woods Mrs. Allen contacted a passerby, who in turn notified a threshing crew on the Robert Jefferson farm, and all of the men went to the scene.

The coroner was summoned to the scene, made a short investigation, and had the body rolled upon a canvas and hauled to the Madison Mills Cemetery, where it was buried in the "potter's field," without services, so far as is known.

700-Mile Cab Trip Taken by Man, 85

AKRON (AP)—Mrs. Mabel Syfers was surprised when her 85-year-old father, whom she hadn't seen for 10 years, drove up to her house in a cab.

She was more surprised to learn he paid the caddy $125 for the 700-mile trip from his home in Knob Lick, Mo.

"Get this cab driver some breakfast and a bed," said her father, Lawrence Page. "He's got to get back to Knob Lick."

The caddy, Tommy Sands, started back after a rest.

What One Writer's School Survey Disclosed

The statement has been made many times that in most cases bureaucrats in government, whether federal, state or local, have small consideration for money once they get an opportunity to spend it; that their chief concern is to insist that it be spent.

This affects many lines of spending whether it relates to what is often termed "public service," or even in matters of over-rating our actual school needs.

One nationally noted Washington D. C. syndicate writer, a few days ago indicated in his column that the public was gradually getting around to the idea that the tremendous amount of money sought as being actually needed for our public schools was somewhat of a public overselling job of some school administrators and others who would benefit in some way, rather than being based on actual needs, although in many cases some school improvements were necessary.

There are bureaucrats in all fields of public service. He mentioned, however, that with more sincere attention paid to the efficiency of schools in educational matters and less to over-zealous attempts to sell the public in big programs, also more attention as to how to make the most of the school facilities available, would result in less demand for huge school additional appropriations and for the federal government to enter the picture.

From another source, Stewart Alsop, prominent writer on current affairs, came further comment somewhat supporting the other writer's viewpoint.

He recently made a tour of various schools. He said he was motivated in this by the strongly advocated proposal that the federal government provide funds for classroom construction.

At the beginning of his trip, Alsop was inclined to agree with the proposal. But at the end of it, he was no longer so sure.

One reason for his attitude was that the school situation, while serious in some places, "is not quite so desperate a crisis as it has sometimes been painted."

Another is that "If the federal government does move in, the federal government will stay in, despite the fond hopes and promises to the contrary."

Still another is that "surely there is something to be said for the notion" that the citizens of a state "should be financially responsible for the education of their children."

Finally, Alsop came away from his tour with this impression—"that the teachers and officials I met, all admirable people, were a little too much interested in the buildings the children were taught in, and not enough in what they were taught."

All of these moderately-phrased observations are important—and the last is the most important of all. We will put the cart before the horse with a vengeance if we lay heavy emphasis on the physical characteristics of our schools—and only secondary emphasis on what goes on in the classrooms.

Ventures Ltd. and the Treasury

By George Sokolsky

The new Secretary of the Treasury, Robert B. Anderson, will take that position after resigning from Ventures Limited, a Canadian company, with tangible net worth of about 22 million dollars and which either owns or has a huge interest in a large number of other companies throughout the world.

Canada does not object to the cartel system of operations and it would be a question of legal definition rather than private opinion whether many of Canada's industries have been cartelized.

There seems to be no objection to the cartel in capitalistic countries other than the United States.

At any rate Ventures Limited is acknowledged to be one of the largest holding companies in the mining field. Its income derives from dividends paid by various companies in the mining field. Its income derives from dividends paid by various companies in which it has made its investments.

Ventures Limited was chartered Jan. 27, 1938, with an original authorized capital of 10 million dollars.

The genius of the enterprise has undoubtedly been T. Lindsley, the chairman of its board of directors, who was born in the United States, came to Canada in 1937 as a geologist, and became interested in various mining properties which eventually became Ventures Limited.

The indicated market value of the stock ownership in subsidiary and related companies of Ventures Limited is about 112 millions.

In 1954, the various oil interests of Ventures Limited and Frohisher Limited, a subsidiary, were consolidated into Geoil Limited, a subsidiary of Frohisher Limited (The use of numerous subsidiaries, piling tier upon tier, has become customary in all countries to influence tax payments.)

Ventures Limited owns about 1,356,000 shares in Geoil Limited of which R. B. Anderson was a director.

These interlocking directorates would indicate that these companies are all controlled by more or less the same interests, brought together by Lindsley. Geoil Limited operates not only in Canada but also in the United States, particularly in Louisiana, where it has substantial oil interests.

Ventures Limited, which is the controlling shareholder of Frohisher Limited and Geoil Limited, operates through its subsidiaries and related companies in Canada, Africa, South America and the United States. Geoil, for instance, has a 50 per cent interest in Trans-Border Limited which owns the Williston Oil and Gas Limited which operates in the United States with great success.

It is interesting that this enormous Canadian enterprise found an American to be its president and that he replaces as Secretary of the Treasury. George Humphrey whose Mark Hanna Company also holds enormous mine properties in Canada.

The economic relations between the two countries are important and perhaps interlocking to a greater degree than is generally assumed. Many financial companies and financial devices exist which bring the business of the two countries together.

Furthermore, many Canadian enterprises are financed in London, and Canada may serve as a bridge between the London and New York market, providing financial organizations which facilitate investment but which are now forbidden in this country.

The Toronto Stock Exchange, for instance, is a much freer institution than the New York Stock Exchange. Current studies of the invasion of Canadian capital into the United States would indicate that they are larger than has generally been assumed.

There has been so much mystery about the new Secretary of the Treasury that I thought that I might as well research Ventures Limited and introduce the gentleman properly to the taxpayer.

A quiet businessman, working in Toronto since he ceased to be deputy Secretary of Defense, he has not been as well known to the American people as a successor to Alexander Hamilton should be.

His first political appointment was Secretary of the Navy, in the Eisenhower administration, although he is a Democrat. His views on various subjects are not known at all.

For instance what are his views on the budget, tax cuts, the evasion of taxes by corporations by means of tier subsidiaries scattered all over the world, etc., etc.?

Anderson has not had anything to say on these matters at all and therefore he cannot be unpopular because no one knows what he is for or against.

However, it is to be presumed that he cannot be too antagonistic to George Humphrey's position because no big businessman could be, and in due course, events will require statements on various subjects.

STUART CHASE has a neighbor whose garden was ruined last summer because of a scarcity of rain. "We did everything possible to provoke a storm," he complained. "Left out the tennis rackets, washed the car regularly, planned picnics for the weekends and invited guests from a hundred miles away—and would you believe it, in spite of all that, the darn sun went on shining without a cloud in the sky!"

Well-publicized differences of opinion among political party nabobs merely carry on a tradition, especially among Democrats who seem to dote on throwing bricks at each other.

The famous Mr. Dooley put it this way, "When ye see two men with white neckties go into a street car an' set in opposite corners while one mutters 'thriller' an' th' other hisses 'miscrrent', ye can bet they're two Dimmycratic leaders tryin' to reunite th' ol' party."

What Is Expected Of Expectant Pop?

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MOST everyone makes a big fuss about an expectant mother. There is plenty of advice available on what she should do, what she should eat—even what she should wear.

But the poor expectant father goes wandering about in a daze, completely unaware that he has important duties, too. Let me try to remedy this situation right now, the day before we pay tribute to Pop.

Additional Responsibility

The father as well as the mother should be prepared for the additional responsibilities a baby will bring.

Many hospitals today have programs instructing the father-to-be on how to bathe the baby and help in his care. If such instruction is available to you, I advise that you take advantage of it.

Yet, the father has another important role to play as he and his wife get ready to welcome the baby. I think it would be extremely helpful if he fully understood just what changes are taking place in the mother's body.

Should Help Wife

A husband can and should help his wife a great deal during her pregnancy.

For one thing, you fathers-to-be should accompany your wife when she goes to see her obstetrician or physician. This will help you to understand the emotional changes she may undergo and the need for adjusting to them.

You have got to learn to adjust to her change in disposition and to rather abrupt reversal of her attitudes toward domestic habits and situations. These are apt to occur fairly often.

Follow Doctor's Orders

If your wife is reticent about visiting the doctor and carrying out his directions concerning diets, activities, exercises and medications, you can encourage her to follow his orders.

You can also help quiet any fears which might develop.

And you can keep her happy during this period. Show more than normal interest in her and bring her small gifts every once in a while. This will help her a great deal, believe me.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

S. E.: I had a coronary heart attack about six months ago. Are there any known cures for this disease?

Answer: You should have adequate rest and eliminate possible contributing factors such as overweight, high blood pressure or stress which might have led to your having an attack.

Ohio's Rural Element Loses In Legislature

COLUMBUS — For the first time in a decade, Ohio's block of cities has punctured the financial dike elected by the prominently rural-minded state legislature.

Officials of the Ohio Municipal League hailed changes in the distribution of local government funds as a big step in helping cities solve their pressing money problems.

"We think that all of the changes taken together represent a big step forward in the operations of local governments," said J. E. Gotherman, league director of research. John P. Coleman, league executive director, agreed.

Legislators asserted the changes indicated a shift of sentiment away from the tight rein on finances held by the so-called "Corn Stalk Brigade" in former sessions.

League officials said cities in the next biennium will get a bigger slice of the state appropriations that go also to counties, villages and townships.

Legislators increased local government appropriations from 22 to 24 million dollars a year and boosted the minimum to rural counties from $30,000 to $40,000.

In doing so, they placed a ceiling on a county's share according to municipal population. The rest will be distributed on the basis of local subdivision needs.

Municipalities long have complained that they failed to receive an equitable share of local government funds distributed by county budget commissions composed of county officials—auditor, treasurer and prosecutor.

A new law, designed to give cities more say in fund distributions, permits voters to approve the addition of two citizen members to budget commissions.

Another enactment requires county auditors to publish fund allocations "to keep the public informed" about budget commission actions.

Still another law prevents commissions from using a levy or tax voted by a municipality in reckoning the share of distributions of that city. Budget commissions have cited such revenues as a reason for cutting distributions to a city on grounds that the income reduced the city's need. Municipal officials asserted the practice resulted in a penalty for cities trying to help themselves financially.

Other laws, counted on to help cities, permit special assessments for off-street parking facilities and assessments by villages for preliminary water and sewage plant plans. A rotary fund also was created for loans to help villages build such plants.

At least 13 of Ohio's 88 counties will suffer distribution losses under the ceiling on their share of funds. The Legislature permitted those taking major cuts to spread the loss over a four-year period.

Franklin County will take a cut of more than $600,000, Lucas County about $79,000 and Montgomery some $36,000. Other counties taking a loss include Harrison, Champaign, Logan, Madison, Monroe, Noble, Muskingum, Perry, Pickaway and Wood.

League officials expressed disappointment over refusal of the Legislature to pass proposals for municipalities to tax automobiles and utility services for added revenue. They also pointed out that a bill increasing the "courthouse fees" will prove costly. The measure boosts fees for services by elective county officials.

League spokesmen estimated that the increases will exceed a million dollars a year for land owners in tax settlement fees to county auditors and treasurers alone.

They said the Legislature also cut 3½ million dollars from the state's annual share of money used to reimburse counties for up to half of their cost in administering poor relief and aid to the disabled.

The league reported that 74 per cent of Ohio's residents live in municipalities, resulting in increased demands for services. A state survey last year set Ohio's population at more than nine million.

By BENNETT CERF

STUART CHASE has a neighbor whose garden was ruined last summer because of a scarcity of rain. "We did everything possible to provoke a storm," he complained. "Left out the tennis rackets, washed the car regularly, planned picnics for the weekends and invited guests from a hundred miles away—and would you believe it, in spite of all that, the darn sun went on shining without a cloud in the sky!"

Well-publicized differences of opinion among political party nabobs merely carry on a tradition, especially among Democrats who seem to dote on throwing brickbats at each other.

Following luncheon and the business meeting, the club members and their guests visited the Park of Roses which is fast becoming one of Columbus' outstanding points of interest. The municipal rose garden now contains over 32,000 bushes of more than 425 varieties of roses. Ultimately the park will have 55,000 bushes as more roses of different varieties are being added.

Other features of the Park of Roses are various plantings of flowers such as lilies, early spring bulbs, a collection of flowering crabapples, all of which create added interest among the thousands of visitors who tour the park area.

All of the rose plantings are carefully marked so that rose fanciers can see for themselves the roses they are interested in. The Fayette Garden Club members took many notes concerning the culture of the roses which they will be able to put into practice in their own rose gardens.

New Standards For Wheat Are Effective Today

Grain Regulations Provide for Less Foreign Material

COLUMBUS — The government's new wheat grades which go into effect today are going to be tougher than present standards, Ross Milner, Ohio State University extension grain marketing economist, advises Ohio farmers.

Most important change, Milner says, provides that No. 2 wheat may contain only one per cent total foreign material— just half the amount permitted under present grade standards.

After June 15 No. 1 wheat may contain only one-half of one per cent foreign matter. The allowance on shrunken and broken kernels for all classes of wheat will be reduced to 5 per cent for No. 1 and 2 wheat and 8 per cent for No. 3 compared to present tolerances of 7, 7 and 10 per cent respectively.

The allowance for wheat of other classes in No. 2 wheat will be reduced from 10 per cent to 5 per cent, making it the same as for No. 1 wheat, which will be unchanged. The allowance for No. 3 wheat will remain at 10 per cent.

WHEAT of distinctly low quality, Milner points out, will be graded on the basis of the sample as a whole, that is, before removal of dockage.

The wheat grading standards are separate from the government's grain sanitation program, Milner explains.

Grain sanitation is regulated by the Food and Drug Administration of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Grading is an activity of the United States Grain Standards Act and is supervised by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Grain sanitation regulations were changed July 1 last year, and these changes will continue in effect this year. They provide that wheat may not contain more than one rodent pellet per pint of grain or more than one per cent insect damaged kernels.

U. S. Women Make Milksops Of Their Men, He-Man Says

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

American women are making milksops of their men, charges black-bearded, hairy-fisted Doug Kennedy, and he, for one, is pretty upset about it.

"The thing that makes me the maddest is all this current propaganda by women's magazines picturing the American male as a bumbling creature tied to his wife's apron strings," says Kennedy, 38, ex-newspaperman, former PT boat hero and currently editor of the men's magazine True.

"I just don't believe women run the world. I don't think they control all the money, do all the spending and make all the decisions. It's all a vicious campaign designed by women to debase the male."

This 6-foot-3 American boy, who collected assorted medals for service in both the Pacific and Atlantic during World War II, feels that men are losing their derring-do these days, and he blames it all on women.

"Women are responsible for all this present frantic search for security," says he. "They're the reason why a man keeps a deadly humdrum job with a pension rather than take a chance and do something he really wants to do. They're the ones who urge their husbands not to talk back to the boss, to be careful crossing the street and not to forget their rubbers."

He himself is married to an independent-thinking former newspaperwoman who made it a condition of their marriage that she be permitted to continue her career. Had to agree, because he loves the girl, he explains. Obviously matrimony has left the Kennedy spirit unbroken and the Kennedy head unbowed. But he feels that his is a happily nontypical case.

Gallipolis Woman Given Sentence

TOLEDO (AP) — U. S. District Judge Frank L. Klobb Friday sentenced Ruth M. Smith of Gallipolis, Ohio, to two years in the Federal Reformatory at Alderson, W. Va., for car theft.

The woman pleaded guilty to stealing a new car in Detroit in 1953, driving it to Findlay and selling it for $1,500.

Vaughn Monroe Tries To Please

Giving Up Orchestra No Curb on Activity

NEW YORK (AP) — Vaughn Monroe, who will serve as host of the TV show "Galaxy of Stars" tonight, believes entertainers have to remember their job is "to please people, not show them."

Certainly that is the aim of "Galaxy of Stars" when Monroe will be host to four other top recording vocalists — Tony Martin, Julius La Rosa, Jaye P. Morgan and Georgia Gibbs. It will be an all-musical hour, also featuring jazz pianist Eddie Heywood, songstress Martha Carson, the Lane Brothers and Joe Reisman and his orchestra.

Recalling the days when he was the country's No. 1 band leader, Monroe said, "I always tried to hold in mind that my job was to please people—not to show them. It's something every entertainer has to hold in mind. Especially in the band business it's easy to get the notion that you're so great the public will have to accept and like whatever you want to play."

Just four years ago Monroe started the music world when he announced that he was dissolving his famous musical organization in order to become a single performer.

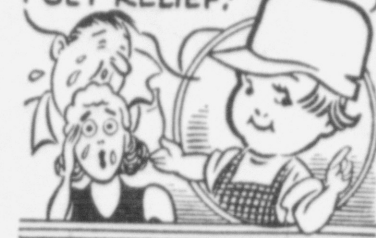

But as a single performer Monroe has been just as busy — and perhaps busier — than when he was leading his band.

He continues to make recordings. Two days a month he comes to New York from his home in Newton, Mass., to make television commercials for a large company for which he also is a traveling representative for the firm. One of his chief interests is the large restaurant which he and his wife, Marion, operate in Framingham, Mass.

Father's Day

In the memory of every child is enshrined the thoughtful and devoted, self-sacrificing, happy comradeship of a GOOD FATHER.

It doesn't make any difference what your trade is, you are all the FATHER your child knows. Dad doesn't ask for a special day but let's give him one... pour on the attention and season it with tenderness.

Surprise him! Catch him with the guards of age and dignity down.

Let him be the center of all your plans on this one big day...

Father's Day. He may be gruff, and steady, and firm but he is an easy victim of love's attack. An x-ray picture of his heart would reveal true concern you never dreamed could be there.

Take him to church this Father's Day. Gladden his heart this one day by making all your plans his plans.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCHGOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

Mighty Klu Back Swinging For Cincinnati

Big Boy Gets 4 Hits As Redlegs Win Game Over New York Giants

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ted Kluszewski has come back swinging for Cincinnati in that crazy, mixed up National League pennant race where the Redlegs have lost nine of their last 13 games but have fallen only a half-game out of first place.

Big Klu, making his second starting appearance since quitting the disabled list Wednesday, had four hits, one a two-run homer, and scored three runs Friday night as the Redlegs defeated the New York Giants 5-4 and junked their losing streak at four games. The Redlegs reclaimed second place behind the Milwaukee Braves, who skidded Philadelphia to fourth, 1 1/2 games back, with a 10-2 victory on Warren Spahn's three-hit pitching. Brooklyn took over third, one game away, as Junior Gilliam stole home with two out in the 10th inning to beat St. Louis 2-1 and put the fifth place Cardinals 2 1/2 games off the pace.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, riding a five-game winning streak, were belted 11-5 by Chicago's last place Cubs.

In the American League everything remained the same. The Chicago White Sox made it nine in a row over Washington, 10-4, to retain a four-game edge over the second-place New York Yankees, who thumped Kansas City 10-1. Detroit remained in third, beating Boston 5-4, and Cleveland stayed in fourth with a 7-2 decision over Baltimore.

Kluszewski belted two singles and a double in addition to his first home run of the year. Joe Nuxhall won his second, but needed Buster Freeman's relief help when the Giants, held to two hits for seven innings, scored three runs in the eighth. Willie Mays' 12th homer brought in two runs in the rally.

Hank Aaron drove in four runs for the Braves, three with his 18th home run. Two singles and an error made one Phil run unearned. The third hit off Spahn, now 7-3, was Rip Repulski's ninth-inning home run.

Two walks and a single loaded the bases for the Dodgers in the 10th, and when bonus kid Lindy McDaniel went into his windup with a 1-0 count on Roy Campanella, Gilliam let fly. Don Newcombe won it, on his 31st birthday — for his fifth victory.

The Cubs swung for 17 hits against Ron Kline, who lost his ninth, and four relievers. Ernie Banks drove in four runs, two with his eighth homer, as Dick Drott won his fifth.

Dick Donovan had the Senators in hand until the ninth, when Jim Lemon and Bob Usher homered to bring on reliever Bob Keegan—who then gave up a homer to Eddie Yost before getting the final out. Winless Chuck Stobbs lost his 11th.

Tom Sturdivant won his fifth for the Yankees, giving up five of the A's eight hits to Vic Power and Bob Cery. Five runs in the fifth put it away for the Yankees, with Mickey Mantle's 19th homer adding two more in the eighth.

Boston ripped Duke Maas for three runs in the first inning, but the righthander then put the Tigers into the lead with a two-run homer in the fifth. Harvey Kuenn's seventh-inning homer was the clincher, giving Maas a 7-3 record.

Bobby Avila's three-run homer in the seventh nailed Mike Garcia's second victory and first complete game in 12 starts. Dick Williams, traded to the Indians by the Orioles for Jim Busby earlier in the day, had three hits, one a home run. Busby was 0-for-5.

Mighty Klu Back Swinging For Cincinnati

Big Boy Gets 4 Hits
As Redlegs Win Game
Over New York Giants

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ted Kluszewski has come back swinging for Cincinnati in that crazy, mixed up National League pennant race where the Redlegs have lost nine of their last 13 games but have fallen only a half-game out of first place.

Big Klu, making his second starting appearance since quitting the disabled list Wednesday, had four hits, one a two-run homer, and scored three runs Friday night as the Redlegs defeated the New York Giants 5-4 and junked their losing streak at four games. The Redlegs reclaimed second place behind the Milwaukee Braves, who skidded Philadelphia to fourth, 1½ games back, with a 10-2 victory on Warren Spahn's three-hit pitching. Brooklyn took over third, one game away, as Junior Gilliam stole home with two out in the 10th inning to beat St. Louis 2-1 and put the fifth place Cardinals 2½ games off the pace.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, riding a five-game winning streak, were belted 11-5 by Chicago's last place Cubs.

In the American League everything remained the same. The Chicago White Sox made it nine in a row over Washington, 10-4, to retain a four-game edge over the second-place New York Yankees, who thumped Kansas City 10-1. Detroit remained in third, beating Boston 5-4, and Cleveland stayed in fourth with a 7-2 decision over Baltimore.

Kluszewski belted two singles and a double in addition to his first home run of the year. Joe Nuxhall won his second, but needed Buster Freeman's relief help when the Giants, held to two hits for seven innings, scored three runs in the eighth. Willie Mays' 12th homer brought in two runs in the rally.

Hank Aaron drove in four runs for the Braves, three with his 18th home run. Two singles and an error made one Phil run unearned. The third hit off Spahn, now 7-3, was Rip Repulski's ninth-inning home run.

Two walks and a single loaded the bases for the Dodgers in the 10th, and when bonus kid Lindy McDaniel went into his windup with a 1-0 count on Roy Campanella, Gilliam let fly. Don Newcombe won it, on his 31st birthday — for his fifth victory.

The Cubs swung for 17 hits against Ron Kline, who lost his ninth, and four relievers. Ernie Banks drove in four runs, two with his eighth homer, as Dick Drott won his fifth.

Dick Donovan had the Senators in hand until the ninth, when Jim Lemon and Bob Usher homered to bring on reliever Bob Keegan—who then gave up a homer to Eddie Yost before getting the final out. Winless Chuck Stobbs lost his 11th.

Tom Sturdivant won his fifth for the Yankees, giving up five of the A's eight hits to Vic Power and Bob Cery. Five runs in the fifth put it away for the Yankees, with Mickey Mantle's 19th homer adding two more in the eighth.

Boston ripped Duke Maas for three runs in the first inning, but the righthander then put the Tigers into the lead with a two-run homer in the fifth. Harvey Kuenn's seventh-inning homer was the clincher, giving Maas a 7-3 record.

Bobby Avila's three-run homer in the seventh nailed Mike Garcia's second victory and first complete game in 12 starts. Dick Williams, traded to the Indians by the Orioles for Jim Busby earlier in the day, had three hits, one a home run. Busby was 0-1 for 5.

New Golf League Opens Play at Country Club

The opening salvos were fired in the new golf league at the Country Club here Friday evening—and the race promises to be as hot as the one in the National League, from which the golf teams take their names.

The Reds, with 7 points, are out in front by a single point at the end of the first week's matches. Tied in second place, with 6 points apiece, are the Pirates and the Phillies and right on their heels are the Cubs with 5 points.

Under scoring system worked out by the organizing committee, a team can win as many as 8 points per match; each of the four players on the team can win 2 points.

Each player has been assigned a number, which he will carry throughout the nine-game schedule. Under this system the No. 1 players compete against each other; the No. 2 player against the No. 2 and so on for No. 3 and No. 4 players.

The numbers were assigned on the basis of handicaps in order to put players of comparable ability against each other. All matches are on the handicap basis.

TOLEDO, Ohio (P)—A pair of darkhorses, amateur Billy Joe Patton and professional Dick Mayer, paced a surviving field of 53 today into the 36-hole stretch drive of the topsy-turvy 57th National Open Golf championship.

They were the only ones able to crack the Inverness Club's 6,919-yard par 70 layout. They did it with identical 70-68-138 scores to take a two-stroke edge and match the tournament half-way record set by Sam Snead in 1948.

With even par 140 were Doug Ford of Mahopae, N.Y. and Ken Venturi of San Francisco.

Billy Joe of Morganton, N.C., is hoping to become the first amateur to win the Open since Johnny Goodman did it in 1933. Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., hasn't won

Hilliards Mark Falls Twice

Steamin' Demon, Belle
Acton Win in Race

COLUMBUS (P)—Belle Acton and Steamin' Demon topped track records Friday night, each winning a section of the divided $9,000 Trans-America Pace at Hilliards Raceway.

Belle Acton's 2:01.4 mile clocking in the finale not only wiped out Steamin' Demon's 2:02.3 earlier record, but won for her owner, George Landers of Kittery, Maine, and her driver, Billy Houghton, a $1,000 bonus for a new track standard.

Eleven of the horses in the classy 14-horse field equalled or bettered the old track record of 2:04 which had been shared by Steamin' Demon, owned by George Van Camp of Circleville.

Steamin' Demon, driven by Eddie Boyer, won the first division of the pace, taking the lead just before the three-quarter pole and winning by a length and a half over Canny Scot.

The summaries:
First division:
Steamin' Demon (Boyer)

Canny Scot (Current) 7.00 4.60 3.00
Ozark Chief (Dennis) 3.20
Time: 2:02.2 (record).

Also started: Hundred Proof, Libbys Boy, Widower Creed, Grand R. Volo.

Second division:
Belle Acton (Houghton) 3.80 4.00 3.40
Bachelor Hanover (Dennis) 4.00 3.40
Honest Jerry (Butt) 4.20
Time: 2:01.4 (record).

Also started: Knight Patrol, Gold Worthy, Hi Hill, Noble Adios.

TOLEDO, Ohio (P)—A pair of darkhorses, amateur Billy Joe Patton and professional Dick Mayer, paced a surviving field of 53 today into the 36-hole stretch drive of the topsy-turvy 57th National Open Golf championship.

They were the only ones able to crack the Inverness Club's 6,919-yard par 70 layout. They did it with identical 70-68-138 scores to take a two-stroke edge and match the tournament half-way record set by Sam Snead in 1948.

With even par 140 were Doug Ford of Mahopae, N.Y. and Ken Venturi of San Francisco.

Billy Joe of Morganton, N.C., is hoping to become the first amateur to win the Open since Johnny Goodman did it in 1933. Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., hasn't won

Youth League Chatter On the Sidelines

By DAVID KORN
Contrary to the popular belief that none of the Little League hurlers can throw 'stuff' pitches (curves and breaking balls), many fans will swear that Joe Burnett, of the Kernels, Mike Burris of the Jets, and Billy Halliday of the Flashes, are quite capable of throwing curves. Possibly there are many of the Little League hurlers who would say that opposing pitchers are whiffing them with sharp breaking curves.

Having been robbed of a home run, in a previous game, Ronnie Jones, 10-year-old Jet catcher, was not about to be robbed of one against the Flashes last Monday. His drive cleared the right field fence and carried about 200 feet from home plate in the air. Jones was robbed of home run in the Jets' opening game of the season when his long drive hit the very top of the centerfield

NEW YORK (AP) - Bold Ruler and Gallant Man, not to forget five other colts of lesser stature, match strides today in one of the most talked-about horse races of the season - the 89th running of Belmont Stakes.

This is the finale of the famed triple crown series for 3-year-old thoroughbreds, and it apparently settles down to a question whether a good little horse like Gallant Man can handle a good big horse like Bold Ruler.

It also is a battle of wits and skill between two old Belmont veterans, Trainer Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons and Eddie Arcaro with Bold Ruler, and a combination taking their first crack at the great mile and one half challenge.
Gallant Man's trainer, 44-year-old John Nerud, and his 26-year-old jockey, Willie Shoemaker, are pitted against Sunny Jim, at 82 the dean of American trainers, and the 41-year-old Arcaro, premier stakes jockey. Both will be seeking their seventh Belmont.

This doesn't necessarily rule out five other fine colts.

The Greentree Stable of John
Hay Whitney, U. S. ambassador to Britain, and his sister, Mrs.
Charles Shipman Payson, entered a pair in Cohoes and Pop Corn.
Ralph Lowe, the Texas oilman, decided to enter Bold Nero to accompany Gallant Man.

The field is rounded out with French-bred Lucky Dip from the Cain Hay Stable of Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim, sportsman, and the D. & M. Stable's Inside Tract, owned by Ray De Brino, Valatie,
N. Y., caulking contractor.

Camp Fire, Blue Bird Groups End Camping Session near Buena Vista

AROUND THE FIREPLACE is the best place to spend a rainy afternoon, as these young ladies at the Camp Fire girls day camp will testify. Working on crafts as a part of the four one-day camps are, (left to right) Bonnie Creamer, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Creamer; Peggy Jean Shaw, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Shaw; Jean Ellis, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellis and Bonnie Shoemaker, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shoemaker. All are from Washington C. H.

Four wonderful days in the outdoors for more than 100 girls of elementary school age here came to a close at 3 p. m. Friday.

This is the first time such an ambitious outdoor program has been undertaken for the Camp Fire Girls here. And, when it was all over, the more than a score of mothers, who had given their time and energy to the girls, agreed it was a success.

Admittedly weary, these women said their efforts were well spent because the girls had "such a wonderful time." Tired through they were, they confessed they enjoyed it all, too.

THE CAMPS were held at the recreation area and wildlife reserve of the Fayette County Fish and Game Assn. on Rattlesnake Creek near Buena Vista. The girls gathered at the log lodge each of the four days at 9 a. m. and returned home by 3 p. m.

Each day opened with a flag raising ceremony and the Pledge of Allegiance. After that it was just one thing after another, with never a dull moment. Three were games of all kinds, singing, craft work and hikes over wooded trails and along the creek to provide the background for nature studies. A part of each day, right after lunch, was set aside for the clean-up.

At noon, the girls offered prayer and then, opened the lunch boxes they had brought from home and had their noon meal picnic style. The Sagar and Med-P-Pure dairies provided the milk.

There was a registered nurse at the camp all the time, and when he girls came back from hiking through the woods, they were given strong soap with which to wash their legs and arms as a preventative for poison ivy. Accidents, even small cuts or scratches, were few.

The Blue Birds—the younger girls—went to the camp Monday and Tuesday. After skipping Wednesday, the Camp Fire Girls went out on Thursday and Friday.

James Shoemaker was the general chairman of the camp committee. Other members were Mrs. James E. Tremlett, Mrs. Jane Kerns, Clifford Foster, Mrs. Michael Harrison, Mrs. Clark Sheppard and Golden Davis.

Nurses who gave their time to the camp were Mrs. Marvin Roszmann, Mrs. Robert Wise, Mrs. Neil Helfrich, Mrs. H. S. Stemple and Mrs. Richard Gillen.

Mrs. Donald Murdock and Mrs. Gene Smith told the girls about the beauties and wonders of nature which surrounded them.

Mrs. Winston Hill, Mrs. Weldon Kaufman, Mrs. Ralph Minton and Mrs. Joe Batson taught handicrafts.

Mrs. J. O. Garringer and Mrs. Harry Seyfang supervised the games.

Mrs. Robert Hagerty and Mrs. N. M. Reiff told stories.

Mrs. Don Schweigert and Mrs. Arthur Terry led the singing.

THE LEADERS were Mrs. Dale Ward, Mrs. Robert Parish, Mrs. Russell Goldsberry, Mrs. Floyd West, Mrs. Herbert Sollars, Mrs. Tremlett, Mrs. Terry, Mrs. Seyfang, Mrs. Minton, Mrs. John Bailey and Mrs. Ed Rankin.

Their helpers were Mrs. Charles Piersick, Mrs. Ted Warner, Mrs. Donald Wood, Mrs. Edmond Woodmansee, Mrs. Harold Foraker, Mrs. Vic Bandy and Mrs. Thurman Coulter.

Judge Case also issued a subpoena for Attorney Reed M. Winegardner, who represented Mrs. Walls in the later phases of the case after the disbarment of her former attorney and employer, J. Harvey Crow, was confirmed by the Second District Court of Appeals.

Judge Case on June 13 filed a motion with the Court of Appeals to vacate the alternative writ of prohibition.

After issuing the subpoenas Saturday morning, Judge Case commented that he felt the "whole situation needs clarification" and expressed the hope that the two hearings next week would accomplish this.

THE THREE judges of the Tenth District were brought into the tangle after two of them, Judge Miller and Judge Petree, issued an alternative writ of prohibition temporarily restraining Judge Case from taking a deposition from John Trace, principal of the high school, to be used in Mrs. Walls trial.

The alternative writ was issued by Judge Miller and Judge Petree, sitting by designation as the Second District Court. Although Judge Bryant is a member of the court, he did not sign the writ.

Further complicating the case, is a hearing, scheduled by the Tenth District judges for next Wednesday here, on the alternative (or temporary) writ. Judge Case was directed to appear at this hearing to show cause why the writ should be made permanent.

Sheriff's officers and a Gerstner ambulance rushed to the Madison-Fayette County line on Route 62 north about 6:15 p. m. Friday in search of an auto accident — but found nothing.

Deputy Donald Thompson, who answered the report, theorized that a grease-covered truck driver, repairing a broken axle may have been the supposed "victim."

Thompson said the telephoned accident report came from a State Highway Department employee who may have seen the truckdriver and the truck and mistaken the grease for blood. The highway employee could not be contacted Saturday.

Camp Fire, Blue Bird Groups End Camping Session near Buena Vista

AROUND THE FIREPLACE is the best place to spend a rainy afternoon, as these young ladies at the Camp Fire girls day camp will testify. Working on crafts as a part of the four one-day camps are, (left to right) Bonnie Creamer, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Creamer; Peggy Jean Shaw, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Shaw; Jean Ellis, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellis and Bonnie Shoemaker, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shoemaker. All are from Washington C. H.

Four wonderful days in the outdoors for more than 100 girls of elementary school age here came to a close at 3 p. m. Friday.

This is the first time such an ambitious outdoor program has been undertaken for the Camp Fire Girls here. And, when it was all over, the more than a score of mothers, who had given their time and energy to the girls, agreed it was a success.

Admittedly weary, these women said their efforts were well spent because the girls had "such a wonderful time." Tired through they were, they confessed they enjoyed it all, too.

THE CAMPS were held at the recreation area and wildlife reserve of the Fayette County Fish and Game Assn. on Rattlesnake Creek near Buena Vista. The girls gathered at the log lodge each of the four days at 9 a. m. and returned home by 3 p. m.

Each day opened with a flag raising ceremony and the Pledge of Allegiance. After that it was just one thing after another, with never a dull moment. Three were games of all kinds, singing, craft work and hikes over wooded trails and along the creek to provide the background for nature studies. A part of each day, right after lunch, was set aside for the clean-up.

At noon, the girls offered prayer and then opened the lunch boxes they had brought from home and had their noon meal picnic style. The Sagar and Med-P-Pure dairies provided the milk.

THERE WAS A registered nurse at the camp all the time, and when he girls came back from hiking through the woods, they were given strong soap with which to wash their legs and arms as a preventative for poison ivy. Accidents, even small cuts or scratches, were few.

The Blue Birds—the younger girls—went to the camp Monday and Tuesday. After skipping Wednesday, the Camp Fire Girls went out on Thursday and Friday.

James Shoemaker was the general chairman of the camp committee. Other members were Mrs. James E. Tremlett, Mrs. Jane Kerns, Clifford Foster, Mrs. Michael Harrison, Mrs. Clark Sheppard and Golden Davis.

Nurses who gave their time to the camp were Mrs. Marvin Rossmann, Mrs. Robert Wise, Mrs. Neil Helfrich, Mrs. H. S. Stemple and Mrs. Richard Gillen.

Mrs. Donald Murdock and Mrs. Gene Smith told the girls about the beauties and wonders of nature which surrounded them.

Mrs. Winston Hill, Mrs. Weldon Kaufman, Mrs. Ralph Minton and Mrs. Joe Batson taught handicraft.

Mrs. J. O. Garringer and Mrs. Harry Seyfang supervised the games.

Mrs. Robert Hagerty and Mrs. N. M. Reiff told stories.

Mrs. Don Schwaigert and Mrs. Arthur Terry led the singing.

THE LEADERS were Mrs. Dale Ward, Mrs. Robert Parish, Mrs. Russell Goldsberry, Mrs. Floyd West, Mrs. Herbert Sollars, Mrs. Tremlett, Mrs. Terry, Mrs. Seyfang, Mrs. Minton, Mrs. John Bailey and Mrs. Ed Rankin.

Their helpers were Mrs. Charles Persick, Mrs. Ted Warner, Mrs. Donald Wood, Mrs. Edmond Woodmansee, Mrs. Harold Foraker, Mrs. Vic Bandy and Mrs. Thurman Coulter.

JUDGE CASE also issued a subpoena for Attorney Reed M. Winegardner, who represented Mrs. Walls in the later phases of the case after the disbarment of her former attorney and employer, J. Harvey Crow, was confirmed by the Second District Court of Appeals.

Judge Case on June 13 filed a motion with the Court of Appeals to vacate the alternative writ of prohibition.

After issuing the subpoenas Saturday morning, Judge Case commented that he felt the "whole situation needs clarification" and expressed the hope that the two hearings next week would accomplish this.

5 Appeals Judges Subpoenaed For Disqualification Hearing

Judge John P. Case of the Fayette County Common Pleas Court Saturday morning issued subpoenas for five judges of two courts of appeals to testify before Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant of the Ohio Supreme court when Judge Case's affidavit of disqualification against two of the subpoenaed judges comes up for hearing at 2 p. m. Tuesday in Columbus.

Subpoenaed were Judge Fred J. Miller, Judge Charles R. Peetree and Judge William C. Bryant of the Tenth district Court of Appeals and Judge William C. Williams of the Second District Court of Appeals.

Further complicating the case, is a hearing, scheduled by the Tenth District judges for next Wednesday here, on the alternative (or temporary) writ. Judge Case was directed to appear at this hearing to show cause why the writ should be made permanent.
